Acknowledgments

Once again, we extend our most sincere thanks to the following people, almost all of them members of the New England Antique Radio Club, who provided the radios, photographs, and some of the facts and figures that made this book possible. We couldn't have done this without your help and generosity and we thank you.

Len Arzoomanian, Frank Atwood/Nostalgia Radio, Merrill Bancroft, John Bayusik, Ron Boucher, Peter Burton, Warren Chamberland, Dave Crocker, Bob Davidson, Al DeCristofano, John DeLoria, Karl Doerflinger, Ward Eaton, John Ellsworth, Richard Foster, Dave Froehlich, Ernie Gilford, John Hayes, Ted Hutson, George and Julia Kay, David Lent, Ray and Rose Lumb, Dick Mackiewicz and Alice Villard, Al Monroe, Michael Morin, Herb Parsons, Scott and Sue Phillips, Sr., Dave Pope, Harry Poster, Frank Rasada, Steve and Yvonne Slabe, David Smith, Glenn Smith, John Terrey, Ron Trench, Jr., Ralph Williams, Chet Wisner, Wally Worth.

Special thanks to the Leandre Poisson Collection for the following photos:

Airline 25BR-1542R, Bendix 111, Delco R-1228, Emerson 520, Firestone 4-A-26, Philco 38-14, Philco 41-290, Philco 42-KR3, Philco 48-200, Philco 48-460, Philco 53-563, Radiola 61-8, RCA 15X, RCA 96-X-1, Sentinel 284-NI, Silvertone 4500A, Silvertone 7204, Sonora WALL-243, Stewart Warner 07-51H, Sylvania 1102, Zenith 6-D-311.

Sincere thanks also to all those who loaned radio-related paper goods, catalogs, encouragement and constructive suggestions. We appreciate your help and support.

Introduction

Once again, welcome to the wonderful world of Antique Radios!

This second edition of The Collector's Guide to Antique Radios features all of the information from the first book along with hundreds of new model numbers, updated pricing and new photographs. Whether you're a newcomer to the fascinating hobby of vintage radio collecting or an "old timer" who has been building a radio collection for many years, we hope you find this book informative and helpful.

Feel free to write us at any time with anything you feel would be helpful for future books. To maintain accuracy, we only list a model number if we have actually seen the radio – either in person or from a photograph or old company advertising – so we always welcome new information from all sources.

You will find there are many more transistors listed in this second edition. As the older sets get harder to find and more expensive, more and more people begin to collect newer, more affordable radios, and transistors are fast becoming a popular part of radio collecting. With a few exceptions, they are still affordable and fairly easy to find at yard sales and flea markets, so keep your eyes open – there is still time to build a good collection before transistor prices hit the Catalin heights!

Be sure to check the back of the book for current information on antique radio clubs throughout the country. Radio collecting is growing at a rapid pace and there are new clubs forming all the time. We recommend joining a club near you – it's a great way to meet others with the same interests.

Explanation of Pricing Section

If you are familiar with the first edition, you will find prices are generally higher across the board, with dramatic increases occurring on some of the Deco, streamlined, novelty and hard-to-find sets. As more and more people become involved in this fast-growing hobby, prices will continue to rise according to supply and demand, with the "good" sets always commanding the premium prices.

The pricing information in this book is provided for the potential buyer and has been gathered from many different sources: regional and national radio meets, flea markets, auctions, private collectors, various antique radio classified magazines, etc. Our method is to gather as many prices as possible on each set and take an average to arrive at a fairly current figure. Keep in mind there is no "suggested retail price" for old radios and pricing is extremely variable and depends on many factors.

The primary factor when considering whether an old radio is "worth it" is CONDITION. We have tried to provide pricing that reflects sets in "good" condition, using the following guidelines:

1. Electronically complete. Although the set may not be working, all the electrical components, including tubes, are there and a minimal amount of repair would bring it to operating condition.

2. Cabinet in good condition. All knobs and other removable parts are in place. There are no cracks, chips or other highly visible damage to the case.

These prices in no way reflect sets in "MINT" condition – very few old radios fall into that category. There may be an occasional set that was very seldom or never used that may be close to or even mint, but most radios were a vital and functional part of the household and they will usually bear a few nicks and scratches and show some signs of wear.

A secondary factor in determining a fair price for an old set is where you happen to be at the time. Prices generally tend to be higher on the West Coast than the East Coast, auctions are usually more expensive than yard sales, etc.

Naturally if you have a radio for sale, you want to receive the best possible price. Keep in mind that radio prices are very volatile and are more dependent on condition than age. For example, we receive many phone calls and letters from people who have sets for sale, and we always ask very specifically about the condition. We have learned this the hard way – too many times we have been told that a radio has been “in storage” for years and is in “good” condition only to arrive and find a dirty set that has been sitting in a damp basement or hot attic for years, with a grill cloth full of cat scratches, peeling veneer, missing knobs, no tubes and the sellers expect to get top dollar because the set is OLD! Remember, “OLD” does not necessarily mean “GOOD!” To avoid disappointment, the best policy is to be realistic about your radio’s condition when you contact a potential buyer.

A special note to Catalin collectors:

Catalin radios are the most avidly sought after and hardest-to-find-in-good-condition radios around and, despite the predictions (usually made by battery set collectors who are shocked that a 1940’s radio can be worth thousands of dollars) that the bottom has to fall out of the Catalin market any day now, they still continue to command high prices. Because there are so many factors that affect the price of Catalin sets – color, the smallest stress cracks, heat discoloration, the part of the country you are in – it is impossible to establish firm prices and we have chosen to generalize the pricing in this book. You will find most Catalin prices followed by a “+,” which means you should expect to pay at least this much for a set in good condition, depending on the above variables.

Basic Radio Terms and Descriptive Information

1. Addresses – We have included addresses for as many companies as possible, along with brief histories of a few of the well-known companies. This is not necessarily complete information; many radio companies, especially during the 1920’s, went in and out of business so fast, or merged with one another so often, or moved so frequently, that it is sometimes impossible to pinpoint exact addresses and historical background. Note that a few of the addresses for transistors may be for suppliers rather than manufacturers, as some of these sets were imports.

2. Model Numbers – Model numbers are tricky critters! There seems to be no consistency to them sometimes; even within a given company’s advertising, model numbers can be written several different ways. For example: A model #AR36-809 might be written AR-36-809 or AR36809 or even AR36-809! The best plan is to use a little creativity when searching for model numbers in this price guide. We have tried to list them in a logical numerical sequence, so try different combinations until you find the right one.

3. Style – There are many different types or styles of radios available. We have used various common descriptive terms in this price guide. The following is a basic description of each:

Breadboard – An early radio with the tubes and other component parts attached to a rectangular board that usually has “breadboard” ends. Breadboard radios have no cases or covers, all parts and tubes are exposed.

Cathedral – Sometimes referred to as “bee-hives,” cathedrals are taller than wide with a top that is usually rounded or sometimes comes to a rounded peak, generally thought to resemble a cathedral window in shape. The cathedral is the “classic” radio shape.

Chairside – A console radio with a low shape made to sit beside an armchair, usually with the controls on the top within easy reach.

Console – The console is also called a floor model. It can consist of a cabinet on legs or just a rectangular (higher than wide) case that sits directly on the floor.

Portable – A radio made to be used in the home as well as outdoors or in a location with no electricity. Most portables run on battery power, although a great many are three-way sets, using electricity or batteries.

Table – A general term used to describe many shapes and sizes of radios that are table-top sets.

Tombstone – These are sets that are rectangular in shape, higher than they are wide and are flat on top; generally they resemble the shape of a “tombstone.” They are sometimes called “upright table” models.

C – Clock

N - Novelty – This is a very broad term and covers all radios that are highly collectible due to their unusual case, whether they sport a Mickey Mouse, a Charlie McCarthy, a built-in camera, look like a baseball, a bar, a bottle or any other design where one would not expect to find a radio.

R/P – Radio/phono combination.

R/P/Rec – Radio/phono/recorder combination.

R/P/REC/PA – Radio/phono/recorder/public address system combination.

4. Year – We have tried to list the correct year for most of the sets listed; however, there is some flexibility here as many manufacturers overlapped models from one year to the next and many popular models were made for a number of years.

5. Description – We have included, wherever possible, the material of which the case is made, a general description of the set's shape, placement of the dial, grill and knobs, power source(s), bands, and any other information important to identifying each set. The following terms are frequently used in the descriptions:

AC – Alternating Current

Airplane Dial – A dial which moves in a 360° circle.

Bat – Battery

BC – Broadcast

DC – Direct Current

Highboy – A floor model radio whose legs can be as much as ½ the total height of the case.

Lowboy – A floor model radio whose legs are considerably lower than a highboy's; generally, less than ½ the height of the case.

LW – Long Wave.

Midget – A small table set, usually less than 7" in its longest measurement.

Movie Dial – A dial which features a projected image from a circular film rotating around a bulb.

Plastic – We have used the word "plastic" as a generic term to cover most, but not all, plastics. In the case of Catalin plastics, we have used the word "Catalin" specifically rather than the generic word "plastic," because of the much higher pricing structure of Catalin sets.

Repwood – A type of pressed wood popular in the 1930's and used to make various decorative items, including ornate radio cases that have a beautiful "carved" appearance.

Robot Dial – A feature of some Zenith radios, the robot dial is really three dials in one – standard broadcast, shortwave and police/amateur. Only one dial is visible at any time and can be changed by the turn of a lever.

Slide Rule Dial – A rectangular dial, usually horizontal, which feature a thin sliding indicator.

SW – Short Wave.

6. Pictures – We have tried, to the best of our ability, to photograph only sets that are as close to original as possible. There may be a few pictures included here that show radios with replacement knobs or grill cloths, but in most cases the replacements blend well with the sets and should not be considered a detriment.

Keep in mind that this is a GUIDE only and it was written to do just that – guide you with identification information and current pricing. Because there are so many variables to consider and radio prices are escalating rapidly, we make no guarantees that these prices are hard and fast but we do recommend that you use your judgment when considering the purchase of an old radio – if it is in good condition, the price seems fair according to the book and you like it – buy it!

We are always happy to hear from other radio collectors and we welcome your calls and letters. Please let us know how you like the book and your ideas to improve future editions – we welcome all comments, suggestions and constructive criticisms.

Admiral was founded as the Continental Radio & Television Corporation in 1934 by a group of four investors, some of whom literally sold their belongings to raise the initial capital. Growing rapidly due to the production of good products at affordable prices, the company ranked #5 in sales volume by 1939. Because of quality control problems and competition from Japanese TV manufacturers, the company was forced to close its last plant in 1979.

ADVANCE ELECTRIC

Advance Electric Company, 1260 West Second Street,
Los Angeles, California

Advance Electric was founded in 1924 by Fritz Falck. He had previously manufactured battery chargers, transformers and did repair work and rewinding of electric motors. By 1924, the company was producing radios and continued to do so until 1933, when it dropped the radio line and continued in business with the production of electrical relays and electronic parts.

American Radio & Research Corporation,
Medford Hillside, Massachusetts

The name Amrad is short for American Radio & Research Corporation. The company began business manufacturing transmitters and receivers for the government during WW I and produced its first crystal set in 1921. By 1925 Amrad was in serious financial trouble and was bought out by Crosley although their radios still retained the Amrad label. A victim of the Depression, Amrad closed in 1930.

ATWATER KENT

Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company,
4703 Wissahickon Avenue,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Atwater Kent began business manufacturing electrical items and parts for automobiles. In 1922 the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company began to market component parts for radios and the first of their large line of breadboards. By 1924 the company produced the first of their cabinet sets. Both the Pooley Company and the Red Lion Cabinet Company were among several furniture manufacturers who made radio cabinets for Atwater Kent. From 1925 to 1927, the company sponsored the Atwater Kent Radio Hour, a popular Sunday night show of radio music. A victim of the Depression, Atwater Kent was out of business by 1936.

CROSLEY

The Precision Equipment Company, Inc.,

Peebles Corner, Cincinnati, Ohio

Crosley Manufacturing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio

The Crosley Radio Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio

Crosley Corporation,

1329 Arlington Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

The Crosley company was begun in 1921 by Powel Crosley, who believed his radio company should offer the consumer a good quality product at the lowest possible price and he called his sets the "Model T's" of radio. In 1923, Crosley bought out The Precision Equipment Company. The Crosley Radio Corporation enjoyed success until the late 1920's. One of the most sought-after of Crosley sets today is the "Pup", a small 1 tube set made to sell for only $9.75 in 1925 and known as the "Sky Terrier".

FADA

Fada Radio & Electric Company,
30-20 Thomson Avenue,
Long Island City, New York
F. A. D. Andrea, Inc.,
1581 Jerome Avenue, New York, New York

Fada was named for its founder - Frank Angelo D'Andrea. The company began business in 1920 with the production of crystal sets. Business expanded until the mid-twenties, but overproduction and internal problems took their toll and by 1932 the company had been sold and the name changed to Fada Radio & Electric Corporation. Fada continued to produce radios through the mid-1940's and is probably best known for the Fada Bullet, their ultra-streamlined Catalin radio made in the 1940's.

FEDERAL

Federal Telephone & Radio Corporation,
591 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey
Federal Telephone & Telegraph Company,
Buffalo, New York

Federal Radio Corporation (Division of the Federal Telephone Manufacturing Corp.), Buffalo, New York

Federal Telephone & Telegraph began in 1908 with the manufacture of telephones and soon began to produce radio parts as well. The company produced its first complete radio in 1921 and began to manufacture a high quality, relatively expensive line of sets. As time went on and less complicated radios began to appear on the market, Federal's business declined and by 1929 the company had been sold.

FREED-EISEMANN

Freed Radio Corporation,
200 Hudson Street, New York, New York
Freed-Eisemann Radio Corporation,
255 Fourth Avenue, New York, New York

The Freed-Eisemann Radio Corporation began in 1922. Business was good for the company until 1924 when, with the onslaught of less expensive radios from the competition, the company began to decline. Most of the Freed-Eisemann stock was sold to the Freshman Company in 1928 and the final blow was the stock market crash in 1929. Two later companies also formed by the Freed Brothers were The Freed Television and Radio Corporation begun in 1931 and The Freed Radio Corporation begun in 1940.

FRESHMAN

Chas. Freshman Co., Inc.,
Freshman Building
240-248 West 40th Street,
New York, New York

In 1922 the Charles Freshman Company was formed for the manufacture of radio parts. The popular, low-cost Freshman Masterpiece was introduced in 1924 in both kit as well as a completed radio form. The company was plagued by quality control problems and by 1928, in spite of a merger with Freed-Eisemann, the stock market crash dealt the final blow.

GAROD

Garod Radio Corporation,
70 Washington Street, Brooklyn, New York
Garod Corporation,
8 West Park Street, Newark, New Jersey

The name Garod is short for the original Gardner-Rodman Corporation which manufactured crystal sets in 1921. The name was changed to the Garod Corporation in 1923 when the company began to produce radios. Due to legal and quality control problems, the original company was out of business by 1927 but the Garod name had appeared once again in radio manufacturing by 1933.

GREBE

A. H. Grebe,
 10 Van Wyck Avenue,
 Richmond Hill, New York

A. H. Grebe began as a young man to produce crystal sets and by 1920 had formed A. H. Grebe & Company. The popular Grebe Synchrophase, introduced in the mid-twenties, was the highlight of the company's career. The ever-present Doctor Mu, the oriental "sage of radio", and his advice on life was a regular feature of Grebe advertising. By 1932, the Grebe company was out of business.

KODEL

The Kodel Manufacturing Company,
118 Third Street, West, Cincinnati, Ohio
The Kodel Radio Corporation,
503 East Pearl Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

The Kodel Manufacturing Company was formed in 1924 by Clarence Ogden, an inventor of battery chargers. The company's radio business boomed along with their production of battery eliminators. The advent of AC radio, however, was the beginning of the end for Kodel and they were out of business by the 1930's.

MAJESTIC

Grigsby-Grunow Company,
 5801 Dickens Avenue, Chicago, Illinois
 Majestic Radio & Television Corporation,
 St. Charles, Illinois

The Grigsby-Grunow Company was formed in 1928. The company's radio sales were extraordinary due to the superiority of their speakers over that of others on the market. However, the Depression soon caught up with Grigsby-Grunow, and by 1933 the company was bankrupt. The business was re-formed into the Majestic Radio & Television Corporation which made the Majestic line and General Household Utilities which made the Grunow line until 1937.

RCA

Radio Corporation of America,
233 Broadway, New York, New York

RCA was formed in 1919 and soon became one of the largest distributors of radios. The company was one of the pioneers of early radio & broadcasting and began the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) in 1926. As well as being one of the most prolific of radio manufacturers, RCA also made vacuum tubes, Victrolas, marine apparatus, transmitters and other broadcasting equipment. Their mascot, "Nipper", was featured in many company logos listening at the horn for "his master's voice".

SPARTON

Sparks-Withington Company,
Jackson, Michigan

The Sparks-Withington Company began to manufacture radios in 1926. In the 1930's, their introduction of Deco-styled mirrored radios, along with other Deco cabinet designs by Walter Dorwin Teague, helped make the Sparton line one of the most sought after by collectors of Deco radios. The company produced one of the most expensive to own radios in today's collecting world - the 1936 Nocturne, a Deco, 46" round mirrored console which currently sells for over $25,000.

TROY

Troy Radio & Television Co.,
1142-1144 South Olive Street,
Los Angeles, California

The Troy Radio Manufacturing Company began in 1933; the company being named for the USC Trojans. Troy made radios for many other companies besides their own. As a result of strict quality control standards, Troy was one of the few West coast radio manufacturers to receive the Underwriters approval. With the beginning of WW II, Troy ceased radio production.

Schroeder's Antiques Price Guide

Schroeder's Antiques Price Guide has become THE household name in the antiques & collectibles field. Our team of editors works year-round with more than 200 contributors to bring you our #1 best-selling book on antiques & collectibles.

With more than 50,000 items identified & priced, Schroeder's is a must for the collector & dealer alike. If it merits the interest of today's collector, you'll find it in Schroeder's. Each subject is represented with histories and background information. In addition, hundreds of sharp original photos are used each year to illustrate not only the rare and unusual, but the everyday "fun-type" collectibles as well — not postage stamp pictures, but large close-up shots that show important details clearly.

Our editors compile a new book each year. Never do we merely change prices. Accuracy is our primary aim. Prices are gathered over the entire year previous to publication, from ads and personal contacts. Then each category is thoroughly checked to spot inconsistencies, listings that may not be entirely reflective of actual market dealings, and lines too vague to be of merit. Only the best of the lot remains for publication. You'll find Schroeder's Antiques Price Guide the one to buy for factual information and quality.

No dealer, collector or investor can afford not to own this book. It is available from your favorite bookseller or antiques dealer at the low price of $12.95. If you are unable to find this price guide in your area, it's available from Collector Books, P.O. Box 3009, Paducah, KY 42002-3009 at $12.95 plus $2.00 for postage and handling.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Marty and Sue Bunis have been radio collectors for about five years. Prior to that, they collected LuRay china, 1950's and 1960's TV lamps, Josef figurines, advertising signs, and just about anything else that caught their fancy. In their collecting travels they were always fascinated by old radios, but were hesitant to buy them because there was very little reference and pricing material available to radio collectors at that time. Eventually they became brave enough to buy a few sets, never dreaming that those first radios were the beginning of a whole new world for them. The excitement of radios soon overshadowed all their other collecting interests and they now have over 400 radios in their collection and there's no end in sight!

Because there was no good, comprehensive price guide when they first started collecting radios, Marty and Sue decided to make their own shirt-pocket notebook – listing model numbers, descriptions and prices – that they could carry with them whenever they were hunting for radios. As time went on and they discovered how many hundreds of different radios were manufactured, that little notebook eventually grew to become this series of The Collector's Guide to Antique Radios!

In 1988, they organized the New England Antique Radio Club which has since grown to a membership of over 500 people from throughout New England and other parts of the country. The club is dedicated to "the preservation, collection, restoration and enjoyment of antique and collectible radios, TV's and other related items" and sponsors quarterly swap & sell meets which give collectors the opportunity to gather together to buy, sell, trade and "talk" radios.

Marty and Sue are always happy to hear from other radio collectors, especially with information for future books. Please write to them at RR 1, Box 36, Bradford, NH 03221. They are especially interested in radio company archives and advertising featuring pictures and model numbers. Their long-range goal is to document and publish information on as many radios as possible to provide a comprehensive library for all radio collectors.
